

ADHD Playlist is a high-energy cover band that specializes in 90's and early 2000's rock and alternative hits. They've earned a reputation for their dynamic performances and ability to jump seamlessly between grunge anthems, pop-punk classics, and alternative rock deep cuts. Because who can focus on just one band? Their setlist is basically what happens when you give the AUX cord to someone who can't decide which nostalgic banger to play next. Just don't blame them if you end up screaming lyrics to songs you forgot you remembered.
